Scott Thomas of Scott Thomas Interior Design Named a Featured HGTV.com Designer

Los Angeles, CA, Nov. 6, 2014 – Scott Thomas Interior Design, a producer of electric and eclectic original designs for all styles of homes and workplaces, today announced its principal designer, Scott Thomas, has been named a Featured HGTV.com Designer.

As a Featured HGTV.com Designer, Scott's work will be showcased on HGTV's Folio App which receives more than a million visits each month. Scott, and his work, will also be profiled on HGTV.com in conjunction with the launch of their brand new website, coming this November.

HGTV (Home & Garden Television) is an American basic cable and satellite television channel with a multi-dimensional and interactive online property HGTV.com. It broadcasts a variety of how-to shows with a focus on home improvement, gardening, craft and remodeling. The channel is headquartered in Knoxville, Tennessee and reaches approximately 98,229,000 American households (86.01% of households with television).

"I am honored, and humbled, to have been selected for this prestigious recognition and look forward to working closely with the HGTV team," Mr. Thomas said. "And as excited as I am for this to rollout, I'm even more excited for the challenge of my next design project."

Commenting on Mr. Thomas' appointment to Featured HGTV.com Designer, Beth Rucker, HGTV.com managing editor said, "Scott's interior design work is utterly stunning. We are excited to feature his galleries throughout our digital network and count him among only a handful of nationally-recognized talent who we will profile this year."
